

Legal services for construction and engineering projects

Our construction team has experience in a full spectrum of construction law services.

Developers, owners, financiers, contractors, subcontractors, suppliers, consultants and insurers seek our advice.

As well as legal and technical excellence, we offer knowledge of the construction and engineering industry and people within it. We make it our business to know the political and environmental framework that affects our clients allowing us to provide accurate, commercial and cost effective advice.

We provide a full range of specialist construction law services. We advise a substantial number of clients in both the public and private sectors and our wide range of expertise covers both non contentious and contentious work ranging from:

Non contentious

- procurement and project development strategies
- OJEU / LIFT
- negotiating a suite of contracting methods
- demolition and maintenance contracts
- advising, drafting and negotiating contracts and related documents, performance and insolvency bonds, guarantees and warranties
- negotiating terms of engagement of engineers, quantity surveyors, architects, structural engineers and employer's agents

Contentious client driven resolution including:

- general and specialist litigation, particularly professional indemnity claims and construction/contractual disputes, claims for additional costs due to delay, disruption, variations, EOT's, LD's and latent conditions
- alternative dispute resolution advice including expert determination, mediation, arbitration and adjudication
- recovery of unpaid disbursements

Our team balances the legal requirements with the needs of our clients achieving creative solutions with added value. We have the expertise, resources and experience to oversee any type and size of transaction with speed, efficiency and professionalism.

Overseas advice

Through the overseas experience of our team members, we act as an interface for our clients with their overseas advisers. Outside of Europe, in particular, we have solid links with a network of Asian Pacific law firms.
